IEEE Communications Technology Focus

What is "Technology Focus"?

The online IEEE Communications' Technology Focus (Tech Focus) brings together a selection of complete articles and conference papers from the IEEE Communications Digital Library on a specific topic or technology.

Web visitors to Tech Focus enjoy free access to full content of articles and conference papers on the subject selected. Tech Focus is the only site with free, unlimited access to the world class quality information from IEEE Communications publications and conferences on a single subject for any and all visitors. Engineering professionals, who would normally have "pay per view" access, come to this site for limited time free access provided by an exclusive sponsor on a timely topic of interest!

You select the topic!

Sample topics include, but are not limited to: 3G/4G Wireless, RF Design Software, Spectrum Management, VoIP, IPTV, Carrier Ethernet, WiMax, Automotive Communications, Sensor Networks, Software Defined Radio, Optical Testing, Military Communications, and Consumer Entertainment. Minimum three month period.

Benefits to sponsors

Your exclusive banner is posted on top of the TechFocus home page, driving viewers to your company for product and design solutions.

Bonus space is provided linking to your white papers and application notes. Web visitors come to your site for technical expertise supporting your corporate goals and mission.
