

New ComSoc Beta Mobile Site

The IEEE Communications Society is pleased to announce the first product of the Smartphonics initiative with the beta release of M.COMSOC.org for mobile devices. When using an Android phone, BlackBerry devices, or iPhone, point your browser to comsoc.org and you will be redirected to the mobile version. Mobile devices will see mobile-optimized pages. The new minimal design creates a faster and easier browsing experience on a mobile device. We hope you enjoy this new feature and welcome your comments and suggestion! If you love our regular website on your mobile phone you can find it by scrolling to the bottom of the page and selecting "Switch to full site"
