The IEEE Communications Society Electronic Newsletter is a free service and is sent out monthly to ComSoc members, others who subscribe to our many magazines and journals, and attendees at the more than 50 annual conferences, meetings, workshops and symposia which we sponsor. The goal of the newsletter is simple to provide you with current information about the profession, ComSoc activities, and notable events which may be of interest to you. These might include call-for-papers, a calendar of upcoming special issues of our magazines and journals, original papers recently posted to our free online publication ("IEEE Communications Surveys and Tutorials"), prominent meetings and conferences, and plans for expanding our member services.
